Tae Fifth Heat of the Maylern Asmund Race.

A. S. Thompson, owner and driver of the stallion Asmund, stated to a Sun reporter this morning that the decision of the judges in the race yesterday between that horse and Mayfern would positively be appealed. The bone of contention, as will be understood from the report of the race elsewhere in today's Sun, was the breaking of Mayfern in the fifth heat.

WILD DOGS IN ST. LOUIS. Bleyelist Attneked While Ridina

Through Forest Park. A tribe of wild and vicious mastiffs has just been discovered in the wilder ness in the western part of Forest part and it will probably be necessary for the police to hunt them out in order to prevent serious accidents to wander

While James Bellew, living on the Skinker road, near the intersection of Bonhomme road, was taking a ruthrough the wilderness on his bicycle he noticed seven large dogs gathered around some object that they were evi section by picking up a board and ed from his wheel to investigate more closely and was immediately set upor

Bellew picked up a stick and pre pared to beat the dog, but in answer to a yelp from her the other six joine forces with her and Bellew broke for his wheel. He made the quickest peda mount of his life and just as he reached the seat the vicious female's teeth sank into his stocking and tore it into shreds The dogs followed Bellew until h reached the road, when they turned and trotted back into the woods.

These dogs have frequently been seen by wanderers through the wilderness and by the mounted police, but this is the first time they have attacked any one. Bellew says the female is an unusually large beast and the other six have the appearance of being pups about a year old. The park authorities think the old dog wandered away from nome, made a den in the wilderpess and there raised her family, feeding herself and them on the rabbits, squir rels, birds and eggs that abound in that section of the park. It is likely that a party of mounted policemen will soon be sent into the wilderness to drive them out.
